"anthemic, uplifting" – DJ Times

Following last week's release of their self-titled debut EP on Big Beat Records, Galantis have released the video for their current single "You". The captivating video uses animation and CGI to bring the Seafox, the fantastical animal that is Galantis' logo, to life for a night on the town with friends and talking about her search for love. Dano Cerny, who also directed the acclaimed "Smile" video for the group, directed "You". Watch it where it premiered on Stereogum and here.

Galantis' self-titled EP hit #4 on the iTunes dance chart and was #8 on Shazam's chart of the most Shazamed songs at Miami Music Week. The band released a song a week leading up to the EP's release. Galantis' North American tour kicks off this weekend at Coachella and they're bringing the Seafox with them! They have spent the past few months developing a live show that embodies the music's Olympian sound that unites various branches of electronic music and fans will get their first taste of Galantis live this weekend. Tickets are available at wearegalantis.com.

Galantis is the duo of Christian "Bloodshy" Karlsson of Miiike Snow and Linus Eklow aka Style of Eye. They have been celebrated for their ability to fuse different forms of electronic music into anthemic tracks and their debut EP 's kaleidoscopic sound is a testament to their abilities. Their smash single "Smile" starts off the EP. The jubilant track became a dance club staple and has been championed by their peers including Kaskadee, Diplo, Tiesto, Dada Life, Steve Angello, and radio legend Pete Tong, who featured it as an Essential Tune.

Galantis' new single "You" follows with a spiraling piano and an instantly memorable vocal hook with the custom "Galantis filter" which blends male and female vocals before the beat explodes to meteoric heights leading up to "Revolution". Fan favorite "Help" follows and builds a wistful piano melody into an exhilarating anthem of resiliency. "Friend (Hard Times)" pairs a stirring soulful vocal with a deep house groove re-imagined for 2014 and beyond. The pulsating synths and skittering rhythm of “The Heart That I’m Hearing” is the rush at the end of the journey that captures the heart of Galantis.

Galantis recently released the explicit director’s cut of the already titillating video for “Smile” as a Valentine to fans. The video was directed by Dano Cerny and premiered on Noisey.

Christian Karlsson and Linus Eklow have individually been celebrated for creating classic pop singles for other artists and their contributions to electronic music. Karlsson is a third of celebrated indie band Miiike Snow and one half of production duo Bloodshy & Avant who have helped reinvent pop stars from Madonna to Britney Spears. He co-wrote and produced “Toxic” for Spears for which he won a Best Dance Recording GRAMMY. Eklow co- wrote and produced Icona Pop’s international No. 1 smash “I Love It” ft. Charli XCX and has left a singular stamp on electronic music, defying genre and releasing work on a diverse swath of iconic labels. After admiring each other from afar, the pair set up a studio on a remote island in the Baltic Sea and Galantis was born.
